rational

(adjective)

Adjective: based on or in accordance with reason or logic.

Etymology: late Middle English (in the sense 'having the ability to reason'): from Latin rationalis, from ratio(n-) 'reckoning, reason'

GARSTANG COMMUNITY ACADEMY

Synonyms

- Reasoned
- Logical
- sagacious

Sentences containing the word 'rational' in different forms:
- Shakespeare presents Banquo as rational human being.
- His behaviour was deemed not to be rational given the circumstances.
- He looked at both sides of the argument to make a rational decision.

French translation:
Rationnel(m)
Rationelle (f).

Antonyms

- Irrational
- Illogical