10. Storing personal information

We keep workforce information for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting or reporting requirements. Details of retention periods for different aspects of personal information are set out in our Records and Retention Schedule and is available upon request. After this period, we will securely destroy or anonymise personal information in accordance with data protection law.

11. Who do we share information with?

- We routinely share workforce information with:
- Our local authority
- The Department for Education and/or EFSA
- Examining bodies
- Ofsted
- Law enforcement agencies
- Courts and tribunals
- Other HET schools
- Our auditors, insurers and other professional advisers
- Health and social welfare organisations
- Occupational health providers
- Other third parties we may engage the services of for the purposes of providing a public task or the administration of HET, for example our safeguarding monitoring software, our management information system provider
- Other third parties to whom we may choose to transfer or merge parts of HET or our assets. Alternatively, we may seek to acquire other trusts, schools or academies or merge with them. If a change happens to HET, then the new management team may use your personal information in the same way as set out in the privacy notice.

This list is not exhaustive as there are other circumstances where we may also be required to share information, for example:

- To comply with our legal obligations.
- In connection with legal proceedings (or where we are instructed to do so by Court order).

12. Your rights

Data protection law gives you certain rights about how your information is collected and used. To make a request for your personal information, please contact our Data Protection Officer by emailing compliance@hamwic.org.

Under data protection law, you also have the following rights:

- the right to be informed about the collection and use of your personal information – this is called ‘right to be informed’.
- the right to ask us for copies of your personal information we have about you – this is called ‘right of access’, this is also known as a subject access request (SAR), data subject access request or right of access request.
- the right to ask us to change any information you think is not accurate or complete – this is called ‘right to rectification’.
- the right to ask us to delete your personal information – this is called ‘right to erasure’
- the right to ask us to stop using your information – this is called ‘right to restriction of processing’.
- the ‘right to object to processing’ of your information, in certain circumstances.
- rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling.
- the right to withdraw consent at any time (where relevant).
- the right to complain to the Information Commissioner if you feel we have not used your information in the right way.

There are legitimate reasons why we may refuse your information rights request, which depends on why we are processing it. For example, some rights will not apply:

- right to erasure does not apply when the lawful basis for processing is legal obligation or public task.
- right to portability does not apply when the lawful basis for processing is legal obligation, vital interests, public task or legitimate interests.
- right to object does not apply when the lawful basis for processing is contract, legal obligation or vital interests. And if the lawful basis is consent, you don’t have the right to object, but you have the right to withdraw consent.

If you have a concern about the way we are collecting or using your personal information, you should raise your concern with us in the first instance or directly to the Information Commissioner’s Office at Make a complaint about how an organisation has used your personal information | ICO.

13. Withdrawal of consent

Where we are processing your personal information with your consent, you have the right to withdraw that consent. If you change your mind, or you are unhappy with our use of your personal information, please let us know by contacting the Data Compliance Officer (DCO) in the school.

14. Contact
