How does GMSJ know if children need extra help?
Which types of SEND do you cater for?	Our approach is to be inclusive of all children, therefore we aim to cater for and meet the needs of every child with any type of SEND.
How do you identify children with SEND?	At GMSJ we hold regular Pupil Progress meetings, in which all key stakeholders gather to discuss whole class and individual needs. A standing item on the agenda for these meetings is SEND and a record of discussion is used to monitor individual children's progress, subsequently leading to the identification of SEND in certain cases.
	Teachers are skilled in recognising children in need of additional support or with SEND. This will lead to a discussion with the school SENCO and the involvement of other agencies where necessary.
	A variety of diagnostic assessments can be used:

How is the curriculum at GMSJ matched to children's needs?
What are the approaches to differentiation and how do you provide inclusion?	All lessons are differentiated to suit individual and group needs to ensure inclusive education for all children. Teachers use a range of daily assessment approaches to ensure all children are fully engaged and accessing the curriculum. Individual Education Plans (IEP) are in place for children who require additional support or specific adaptations in order to access the curriculum. These enable children with specific needs to achieve their full potential within an inclusive environment. A range of specific programmes, resources and interventions are used to ensure successful differentiation and to provide inclusion for all. These are highlighted within this document.
