

No Outsiders

All Different, All Welcome!

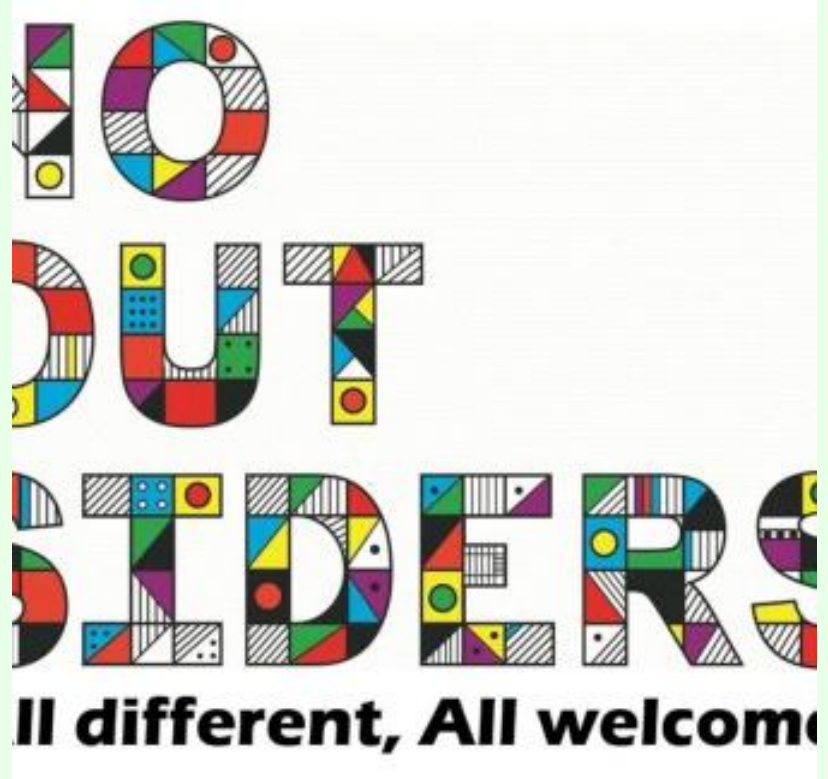

What Does 'No Outsiders' Mean?

Everyone Belongs

'No Outsiders' means everyone is welcome, no matter who they are. We are all different and that's what makes our world special!

Being Kind

It is about being kind and including everyone, even if they are different from us.

Imagine a Football Match

Excitement in the Crowd

Have you ever been to a football match or watched one on TV? The crowd is full of people cheering, shouting, and having fun together.

Feeling the Atmosphere

Being in a crowd can be exciting, but what if you couldn't see what was happening?

Not Being Able to See

Imagine This

How do you think it would feel to be in a football crowd and not be able to see the match?

Would you feel left out, or would you still enjoy the sounds and cheers around you?

A Friend Helps

Listening Together

Imagine you are at a football match and your friend is telling you what's happening on the field. How do you think you would feel as your friend explains the match to you?

Which Is Better?

Radio or Friend?

Someone said their Grandad, who couldn't see well, used to take a radio to the match. He listened to the game with earphones while being there with everyone else.

Which do you think is better: listening to the radio or having a friend talk to you about the match? Why?

Discuss!

Friends or Radio?

If you couldn't see the football match, would you rather listen to it on the radio or have a friend explain it to you? Why would you choose one over the other, and how would each make you feel?

Discuss!

You might have said...

I would choose my friend because then I wouldn't feel so alone.

I think the radio would be good because then I could hear everything that was happening without bothering my friend.

My friend would make me feel happy and included, but the radio might make me feel a bit separate from everyone.

What Can We Learn?

Learning from the Story

What can we learn from the man who couldn't see the match? What can we learn from his friend who helped him?

Helping others and being a good friend makes everyone feel included.

No Outsiders in Action

Why Is This About 'No Outsiders'?

When we make sure everyone can join in, no one feels left out. It doesn't matter if someone is different or needs help—we are all part of the same team!

How Can We Include Everyone?

Be Friendly

Say hello and smile
to new people.

Help Each Other

Offer to help someone if they need it.

Invite to Play

Ask someone to join
your game or group.

Everyone Is Welcome

All Different, All Welcome

Our classroom is a place where everyone belongs. We can celebrate our differences and make sure no one feels left out.

Including Everyone

Let's Remember!

What Have We Learned?

- Everyone is different, and that's great!
- We should always include others and be kind.
- In our school, there are no outsiders—everyone belongs.
