

ELT SEND Pathways Curriculum

The ELT SEND Pathways Curriculum has a range of themes and is structured over a three-year rolling programme. It is designed to meet the diverse needs of our learners with significant SEND within our ARPs/SEND Units and mainstream provisions. This inclusive and adaptive cycle offers a broad and balanced range of thematic units that draw, where relevant, from the National Curriculum, ensuring the pupils following our Explore and Discover Pathways will have meaningful access to subject-specific content where appropriate.

Through carefully curated topics, pupils will engage in rich, experiential learning that nurtures key skills, deepens knowledge, and supports personal development. The curriculum is flexible enough to meet individual learning profiles while fostering shared experiences across an academy/ELT community.

This approach ensures that every pupil—regardless of ability—can participate, contribute, and thrive within vibrant and supportive learning environments.

Curriculum Intent

Our curriculum comprises all of the programmes of study that we offer our pupils in order to promote learning experiences and develop their skills and knowledge. Our primary curriculum is comprised of three pathways: Engage, Explore and Challenge. We deliver a curriculum that has breadth, balance and challenge. It is tailored and relevant to the individual needs of our pupils, however, we see the distinctions between each pathway as being flexible allowing for movement between the pathways for some. Pupils progress through each pathway through their milestones. For those who cannot progress onto the next pathway pupils will continue to be provided with the opportunity to develop, broaden and consolidate their skills.

Our curriculum is responsive to each learner and will build on their individual strengths and interests. Pupils will be assessed in order to identify the most appropriate pathway, we will use information from EHCPs, as well as reports and information from other professional bodies to support children through the curriculum. Pupils will encounter and have the opportunity to develop a variety of key skills through creativity, communication, cognition, independence, physical development. A rolling programme is in place, which supports learning through different topics, themes, subjects and experiences.

These learners require a motivational curriculum with limited demands and opportunities to interact with resources and activities of interest to them	These learners are working below/towards the national curriculum and require a curriculum that is different, not adapted. This is because they have their own preferred learning styles and need lots of repetition.	These learners may be able to access some subject specific activities such as aspects of English and maths, but they are working significantly below ARE and are unable to achieve the more abstract concepts.

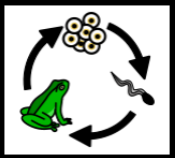

We want to support our pupils at Enquire Learning Trust to be as independent as they can be to be; we want them to love coming to school and enjoy learning. Our curriculum engages and motivates learners to be successful in their own right, make progress and live happy and healthy lives – yesterday, now and tomorrow.
