

HAWK CLASS

News

Amazingly beginning of the new academic year for Hawk class full of new adventures! New building, new classes, new friends, and all our students have settled extremely well. Big applause for you Hawk Class!!!

Through this half term students have had the opportunity to know each other and share lots of experiences they have done during the summer holiday. Students also have taken part from the very first minute into their own learning process discovering their future expertise and wishes, as well as started to think about what they would like to do when finish at college.

As part of Carousel sessions students have been able to attend outdoor pursuits and develop their independence attending to travel training. Whole Hawk class is full of hard workers and they always try their best and shown great interest in ASDAN as part of their leaning process. We have had a range of workshops taking place including Ore project, Butterfly project and weekly sessions on job preparation.

Literacy and Communication

During this term, Hawk class have had several morning sessions dedicated to the development of phonetic-phonological knowledge, which will contribute in a very positive way to the development of communication skills and will allow an improvement in interpersonal relationships.

We started by studying William Shakespeare's – A Midsummer Night's Dream. Throughout the term students have developed their reading and writing skills through the use of the play and book. Pupils will be developing their vocabulary through the story about feelings, emotions, fiction and reality.

Maths

This term students have been developing their awareness of the use of money as well as continue to work on number skills to ensure that they gain confidence and mental fluency with whole numbers, counting, and place value. This should involve working with numerals, words and the four operations using practical resources.

ASDAN

Hawk class has commenced the academic year by engaging in a unit on Rights and Responsibilities and has demonstrated commendable comprehension in this regard. They have begun to implement this knowledge in their daily classroom interactions by exhibiting mutual respect and acknowledging the significance of adhering to college regulations. The class has performed exceptionally well, and following a group discussion, they have collectively agreed upon a set of rules for the class through a democratic voting process.

Carousel

During this half term, the students have derived immense pleasure from their carousel. The outdoor pursuits have provided them with an opportunity to confront their apprehensions, enhance their team building skills and explore novel activities.

Work Experience

Upcoming Events

More new adventures for next half term!

In Carousel, we will be continuing with our Outdoor pursuits, travel training and life skills.

Sixth form open evening 6th November.

Parliamentarian week is on the 6th- November.

Christmas jumper and lunch day in December.

In December is 6th Form Merit Awards.