Website and Cookie Policy

Huddersfield New College is committed to protecting your privacy.

What are Cookies and how do we use them?

A Cookie is a text file placed on your computer. It enables websites to identify you as you view the different pages and applications on our website.

This site uses some unobtrusive cookies to store information on your computer. Some cookies on this site are essential, and the site won't work as expected without them.

These cookies are set when you submit a form, login or interact with the site by doing something that goes beyond clicking on simple links.

We also use some non-essential cookies to anonymously track visitors or enhance your experience of the site.

If you're not happy with this, we won't set these cookies but some nice features of the site may be unavailable.

To control third party cookies, you can also adjust your browser settings.

Security

We will always hold your data securely and not provide your information to any third parties. More details are available in our Data Protection policy, which is available on our website.

Our website is fully compliant with the latest security and data safeguards.

Monitoring compliance

This Policy and its implementation are subject to internal monitoring and auditing throughout the College, and the outcomes from these processes will inform and improve practices as part of a commitment to continual improvement. The College will also undertake appropriate benchmarking and may be audited by external bodies.

Review of Policy

The Data Protection Officer will review the policy every two years or if legislation is changed or published. The Senior Leadership Team will approve the policy.
