

Dear all,

Following the Lockdown update given by the Prime Minister, Boris Johnson, yesterday (10th May), I just wanted to confirm that the College will remain closed for the foreseeable future. Should the guidance change we will be in touch with a further update.

Learning for Year 12 will therefore continue to take place online, supported remotely by our teachers, and by our student support teams.

It is really important that if you are in Year 12 that you continue to engage positively with this learning, as it will provide you with the foundation for success in your studies next year.

Learning for Year 13 will continue to be self guided until Friday 22nd May, the official leaving date for Year 13.

I would like to thank you all once again for your patience, and for your kindness and support, during these unprecedented times. These times will pass, and when they do, we very much look forward to working with you, directly and face to face (two metres apart, of course).

In the meantime, please take care, stay alert and stay safe.

Angela
