

For Year 12 Advanced Level Students

Welcome back to the last half term of this unprecedented academic year,

This academic year will conclude for you at 2.45pm on Friday 3rd July.

The time to then will be split into two distinct phases:

Phase 1 Weeks beginning 1st and 8th June

Remote Learning to continue, as before half term.

Phase 2 Weeks beginning 15th 22nd and 29th June

Remote Learning to continue, with some limited face to face sessions to need to supplement the Remote Learning (the nature of which is still to be determined: more detail will follow on this)

The new academic year for you as our new Year 13 will start on Wednesday 2nd September 2020.

At the heart of all our curriculum planning, both to the end of this unprecedented academic year, and for the start of the new academic year, is your safety and well-being. This is our primary concern. Our curriculum plan will be considerate of, and will respect, your safety and well-being. This includes going to considerable lengths to reappoint our College Campus, to ensure that when you are required to physically relocate your learning back to the College Campus, it is a safe place of learning.

Thank you for the resilience and for the resolve that you have shown to date during these extraordinary circumstances.

We are at a crucial stage in this academic year.

It remains key that you remain steadfast in your resolve, and that you continue to try your hardest to do your best during these last few weeks of this academic year.

We will be there alongside you, helping you to do so. Our resolve to do this remains as strong as ever.

As always, take care and stay safe

Angela Williams
