

The Prayer

Dear Lord

I am thankful that I have things and people to protect me.

I give thanks to NSPCC.

Help us to fight racism and bullying,
help us to celebrate our differences.

We are thankful for our care,
give us the courage to stand up to what we think is right.

Amen

Message from the Headteacher

On Sunday, we would have celebrated the lovely feast, Christ the King. During mass the priest wears white vestments and the liturgy speaks of solemnity and majesty, but also of joy. We are rejoicing that despite all the evils that we see in the world today – and sometimes they can seem overwhelming – Jesus came to serve, not to be served. He does not command but shows by example. He establishes His kingdom through the force of love not the force of arms.

This is the last Sunday of the Church's year. It is fitting that we are celebrating this feast now, as it teaches us to be kind to our neighbours and to think of others. The following Sunday will be the first Sunday of Advent.

As you know, this week has been anti-bullying week in school. The children have been involved in numerous activities from Reception who have been learning about kindness to our Odd Sock day today. Odd Socks Day was designed to be fun as well as being an opportunity to encourage people to express themselves and celebrate their individuality and what makes us all unique!

Father Tony celebrated his birthday this week and he was overjoyed with all of the cards the children made him to mark his special day.

We had a great response for the role of Parent Governor, and I would like to say big thank you to those who put themselves forward. Ballot Papers will be sent home next Thursday and will need to be returned by 9am on Thursday 3rd December. Ballot papers will be collected at both playground gates from Friday 27th November.

Have a lovely weekend.

Reading newsletter

Hopefully you have had time to read the Autumn reading newsletter. I have already had some great book reviews and recommendations come in from some of the children. If you have any more, please give them to your class teacher over the next few weeks, so that we can add them to the Spring edition.
