What is a Haiku?

Haiku poems are a traditional Japanese art form. Here's one...

My two plum trees are
So gracious. See, they flower.
One now, one later.

A large, mature tree with a thick trunk and a wide canopy of leaves in shades of orange, red, and yellow, set against a clear blue sky. The tree is the central focus of the image, with its branches spreading out in all directions. The ground below is covered in fallen leaves, and the overall scene is a classic autumn landscape.

Here's another...

Winter is coming.
Snow will be arriving soon.
We should rake the leaves.

What did you notice about the poems?

Think about:

- the poem's theme;
- how many lines are in each poem;
- how many syllables in each line.

Three lines in each poem.

One now, one later.

Winter is coming.
Snow will be arriving soon.
We should rake the leaves.

Final line is a comment or observation on the theme.

Let's have a go!

How can we write a haiku?

First, we need to choose a theme. It can be about seasons or nature, or a traditional theme.

Summer

Then, we brainstorm some words or phrases associated with that theme...

hot sunshine flowers holiday
beach ice-cream games sea
swimming fun warm sand

Let's have a go!

How can we write a haiku?

Next, we choose two or three ideas which will flow together.

Summer

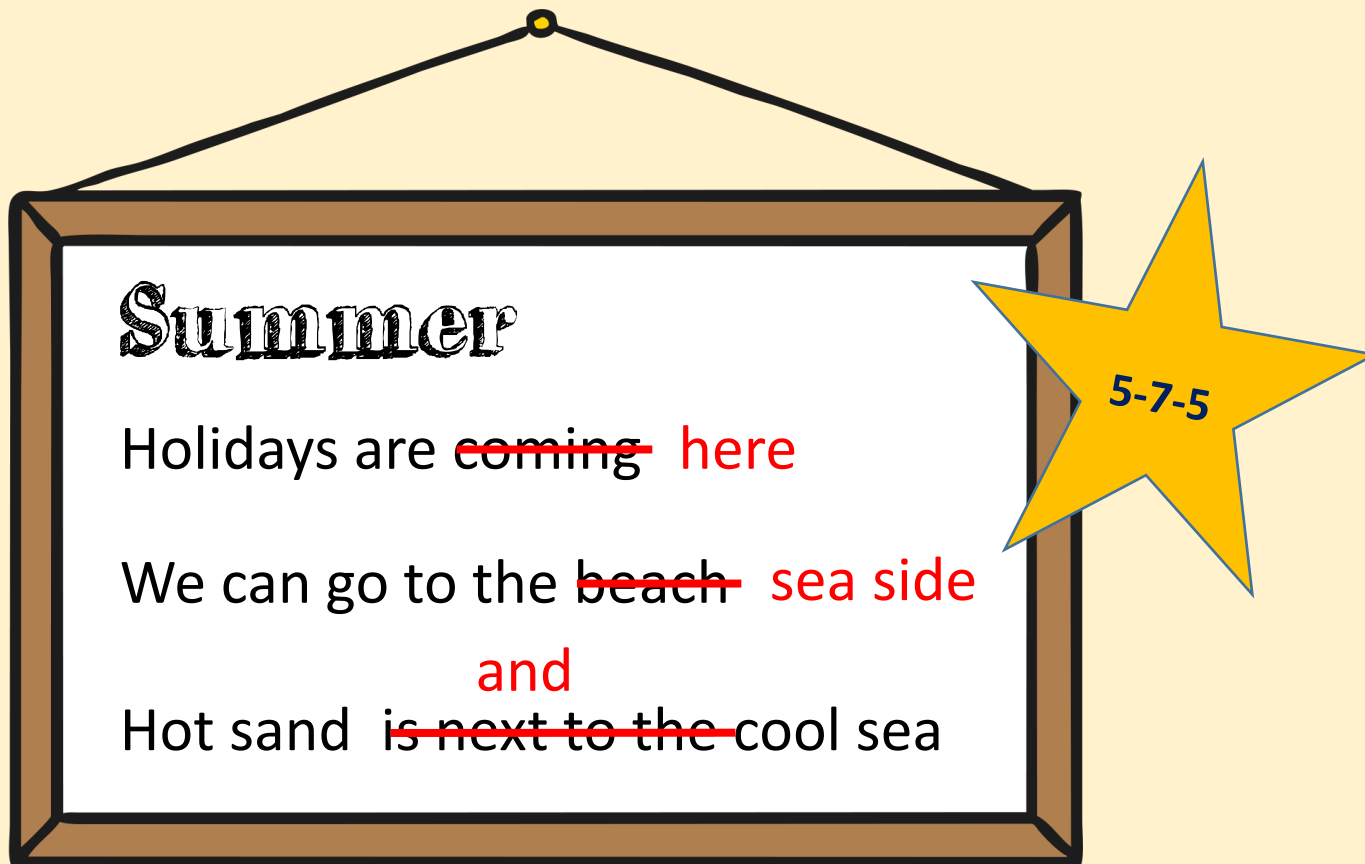

hot sunshine flowers holiday

beach ice-cream games sea

swimming fun warm sand

Now we have our ideas, let's try to fit them into the 5-7-5 syllable format.

You might have to alter words or phrases slightly fit the pattern.

You could write a haiku about the seasons, or about an animal or plant.
The choice is yours!

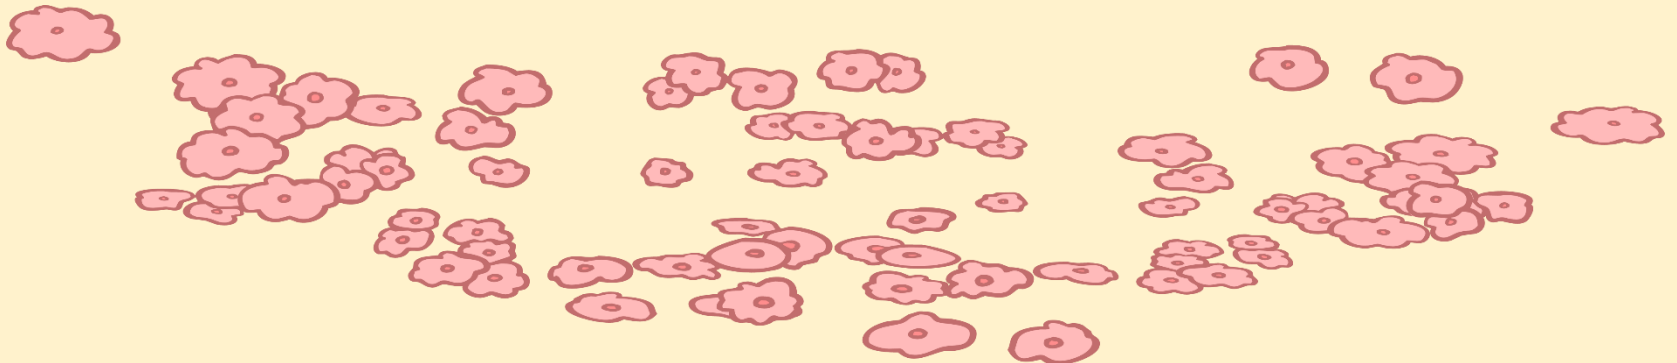

Plenary

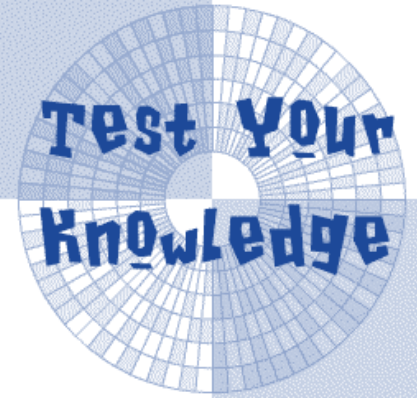

What have we learned about Haiku?

- Each poem has only 3 lines.
- The syllable pattern of the poem should be 5-7-5.
- Haiku are often written about seasons and nature.
- So now you know – a haiku is a poem, not something a pigeon says on the top of Nelson's Column!

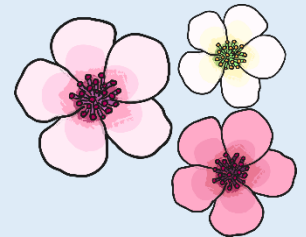

Knowledge tester.....

Do I:

- know that a haiku contains only 3 lines;
- remember to count the syllables in each line to check the pattern matches the format 5-7-5;
- understand that haiku poems are often about nature or the seasons and how we feel about them.
