

The mysterious balloon.

It was a cloudy night; the wind was howling against the house. Not even a bird dared to speak. The house (which ^{believed to be} was haunted) sat motionless over looking the whole village. The blood red balloon stood proudly at the top of the hill. As it swayed in the wind it cursed the house. A girl moved in the house who knows what will happen. As she curiously walked through the front door she hear something outside she rushed to the windows...

She saw a balloon staring at her. She bravely crept outside to see where the strange noises were coming from she ~~begin~~ searching everywhere. As she was sweating she saw a stump to sit on so she sat on it.... Then a light so bright blind the whole village she went missing ~~and~~ ~~one~~ ~~ten~~ noone knows where she went from that day.

Years later, a girl called Stacey moved in the house. with her family her mom, dad and her dog cookie. But her family didn't know a girl went missing. One's they got there it was quite late so Stacey went up to bed. Nervously, she shouted cookie "here cookie bedtime!". No respond! As she shouted Cookie, the dog crept through the crack of the front door. Cookie knew something was wrong!!! What was it? Stacey rushed down stairs the front door was open... oh Cookie she thought. She went to go and shut the door when she tripped over there was a secret door!?

The mysterious balloon
A whisper calling help echoed everywhere. Its morning now she rushed down stairs and popped the balloon with with a pin... Then a key came out of it. She ran back to the house and opened the door... Cookie and a girl came out but then she hear screams from upstairs
her mom and dad got slorted, "Well you have to pay the prize!". What was that?