

Cotton Clothing

PRIMARY

I live in Peru, South America. I work on a cotton plantation and I work hard picking cotton from the cotton plants.

1

I mine bauxite from the quarry in Suriname, South America to make aluminium. Our aluminium is used for many different products, such as zips for clothing and household appliances such as toasters.

2

SECONDARY

I work in the cleaning station in Peru. I work on a machine that cleans and straightens the cotton.

3

I work in a factory in Delhi, India. Our factory makes zips from plastic and metal. I sew the zips using my sewing machine.

4

I work in Turkey in a factory. We get our cotton from Peru. I use the spinning frame to make cotton into yarn so my friends in the other factory nearby can dye and sew the cotton.

5

I use a sewing machine to make cotton jumpers. I use zips from India and cotton from Peru to make the jumpers. I work in Kahramanmaraş in Southern Turkey.

6

TERTIARY

I am a lorry driver. I distribute cotton clothing from Turkey to shops in the United Kingdom. I deliver to big stores in Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and England.

7

I work in the cotton clothing company office. I organise the shipping and deliveries to send to customers.

8

I work in Glasgow, Scotland. I deliver parcels and packages to people's homes who have ordered items online such as clothes and shoes.

9

I work in a shop in London, England. I sell cotton jumpers to consumers.
