Here are some ideas for things to read or listen to, while school is closed. How many you can do?

Can you fill a line or the whole board?

Read a book that a friend has recommended	Read a non-fiction book	Read a book with an animal as one of the main characters	Reread one of your favourite books
Read an autobiography, biography or memoir	Listen to an audiobook	Read a book a grown up recommends you	Read a book with a colour in the title
Read a book that has been turned into a film	Read a book based on a true story	Read a chapter of your book aloud to someone	Read a poem or, even better, a book of poetry
Read to someone over a video chat, maybe a friend or grandparent	Read to a pet or a toy animal	Try reading a book which you don't think you'll like (you don't have to finish it)	Read a picture book you loved when you were little

I appreciate that you may not have access to as many books as usual, so on the next page you'll find links to help.

When you've finished a book why not write a review and bring it in to school when we reopen. I'd love to see them.

Other Ideas

- Ask other people in your household if they have any books you can borrow
- Find out if you or your family are members of Ely or any other Cambridgeshire Library – if you are, you can borrow eBooks and audiobooks via their website <https://cambridgeshire.rbdigitalglobal.com/discover/eBook>
