

Dear Year 6,

I know that you're probably nervous about the transition to secondary school but I can assure you everyone else there has experienced the same thing. I remember how worried I was about making friends, the teachers and lessons. On the first day you were guided through everything and you can ask your mentors anything. I felt really comfortable at school on the second day.

All the teachers are so kind and nice. Design is one of the most exciting lessons. So far I've made a wooden box, a hat, and made a paper owl. I used to dislike most lessons but now I found that I love english.

I love the uniform. I think it is better than all of the other school uniforms in the area. It looks great and I like how all the ties go with it.

There are lots of fun house competitions that vary each term. You can take part in any or all of them. You get house points for taking part.

I remember at Park Grove you get Praise Postcards. You get very similar things at JoRo.

You can also get lesson referrals if you stood out in the lesson. They count up how many you get at the end of each term and they pick a name. If you get chosen you get a prize.

Some of the prizes have been amazon echo, chocolate and lots more. There are also some amazing prizes for attendance. Like escape rooms and pizza parties.

Once you're there, everything just sort of fits. You start talking to new people you sit next to in class, and before you know you have made a new friend. Everything will be fine, better than fine. Secondary school is the time where you get to try new things, learn more and have fun. Chill out and just have fun (and learn some new stuff too).
