Governor activities

Impact of activity

Governors were involved in discussions to understand the new wider curriculum.	Governors have a better understanding of the new structure of this curriculum and how subjects are being taught and the new way pupils are learning.
Governors have been involved in discussions on recent large expenditures for the school.	This is a way for governors to check and challenge the budgetary needs and get the best value for major purchases.
Governors reviewed the progress of reading and the pupils work books.	Governors now know what plans are being used to improve reading and how books are monitored by teachers and how this supports children to progress.
