

Learning to read – the use of “core books”

We believe an important part of learning to read is through sharing high quality books. We have chosen a selection which we love which we call our “core books”. The staff will through the year read and enjoy sharing these books with the children. Each book has been chosen because of the special qualities it has. It may have a great story, interesting illustrations, has a rhyme running through it, a clever design or be by an important author. We think the children will love all of our “core books”.

All of our core books have the following sticker :
