31 December 2020

Dear parents/carers,

As you will know by now, there has been an announcement from the government about the arrangements for the start of this term. The details are as follows:

Week beginning 4th January:

Students from all year groups (including Year 11) stay at home unless they have been invited to school as part of the 'vulnerable children' cohort (which includes the ASD unit and the Complex Needs group as well as children who need extra support) or they are the children of 'critical workers' (please see definition below - remember, there must be no one at home to look after them in order to qualify for this). There will be remote education for everyone at home (see the school website for details). Year 11 will be receiving some live lessons but Years 7-10 will be set work to allow the staff to prepare for the mass testing arrangement that the government has requested going forward.

Can year 11 parents who are critical workers with no one at home to care for their child please email info@littleilford.org by Friday to let us know?

Week beginning 11th January:

Year 11 will return to school. However, we will need to confirm the details later as we don't know how the testing is going to work at present. The students should assume that they will be sitting their mock exams as we advised before the holiday. All other year groups will stay at home (apart from vulnerable students and children of critical workers - see above) but they will receive some live lessons.

Week beginning 18th January:

As things stand, it appears that years 7-10 will remain at home because Newham's levels of Covid 19 are so high, but we will keep you informed about this.

There is a very real chance that in areas of high infection children will not return to school for an extended period. You need to make your child aware that it is vitally important for them to engage in online learning as this might be all they get for some time.

Vulnerable children/children of critical workers

These children should arrive and depart at the usual time for their year group but they will use the Rectory Road gate. They should wear full school uniform. They will be given a lunch at school.

Free School Meals

On Monday our finance staff will be arranging for vouchers to be sent out for those who are not coming into school.
