All schools are supported to be as inclusive as possible, with the needs of students with Special Educational Needs being met in a mainstream setting wherever possible, where families want this to happen.

What are the kinds of special educational need for which Little Ilford School makes provision?

Little Ilford School is very inclusive in its practice and we make provision for a range of special educational needs including dyslexia, dyspraxia, language and communication needs, autism, sensory impairments, moderate learning difficulties and social, emotional or mental health difficulties at SEN Support level. The school also currently meets the needs of students with an Education Health and Care Plan with the following kinds of special educational need: Language and communication needs, cognition and learning needs, social, emotional and mental health needs and physical and sensory needs

How will the teaching be adapted for my child with additional learning needs (SEND)?

Teachers plan lessons according to the specific needs of all groups of students in their class, and will ensure that the student's needs are met.

- One of our main aims as a school is to enable our students with SEND to be as independent as possible. We aim to teach Lifelong learning skills, particularly for students in the Resourced Provision and the Bridge. These skills enhance the independence of our students with SEN.
- Planning and teaching will be adapted on a daily basis if needed to meet the students' learning needs. Teachers will refer to levels and progress data to inform their planning.
- Detailed curriculum planning and delivery for all subjects with clear differentiated learning.

How will you measure the progress of students with SEND?

- Students' progress is continually monitored by their teachers, the SENCO, the Head of Learning Support and the Senior Leadership Team.
- The students' progress is reviewed formally every term and a National Curriculum level or GCSE/BTEC/NCFE grade is given in each subject.
- If your child is working below the National Curriculum, your child will be assessed using another scale of levels that assess attainment up to Level 1. The levels are called 'P levels'. These are measured by the SENCO and the teacher in charge of the Bridge Group. This is something the Government requires all schools to do and the results are published nationally, although this may change.
 - Some students with SEND will follow programmes of study created jointly by the SENCO and core subject curriculum leaders. These programmes seek to support identified students and will include parents/carers, students and the SENCO.
 - The progress of students with an Education Health Care Plan will be formally reviewed at an Annual Review with all adults involved with the child's education

How are the school's resources allocated and matched to pupils' special educational needs?

- The school budget, received from Newham LA, includes money for supporting children with SEN.
- The Headteacher decides on the budget for Special Educational Needs in consultation with the school governors, on the basis of needs in the school.
- The Head teacher and the SENCO discuss all the information they have about SEN in the school, including:
 - The students getting extra support already
 - The students needing extra support
 - The students who have been identified as not making as much progress as would be expectedThey decide what resources/training and support is needed.

- All resources and support are reviewed regularly and changes made as needed.

What do we do to support the well-being of students with SEND?

All students have the opportunity to share their views through

- Conversations with their tutor and from teaching and support staff in our Pastoral Teams supporting their Year Group
- School Council representatives
- We listen to the views of students with SEND and to parents/carers, by:
- The interaction of the SEND team, subject teachers and Teaching Assistants
- Through child centred and friendly meetings and SEND reviews, where the 'voice' of the student and parent/carer is expressly sought and noted
- Conducting regular student voice for learners with SEND
- We take bullying very seriously, and monitor incidents on bullying according to Protected Characteristics, including disability related discrimination.

Addressing the impact of coronavirus on children and young peoples' mental health and well-being

- At its height, the coronavirus pandemic was unprecedented; none of us has experienced this before so we do not know what the lasting impact will be. For example, some children and young people may have enjoyed having more time and sharing new experiences with family. Some may have established new routines that work better for them and some may have felt less pressure from tests, exams and academic success. Others may have developed new skills such as building resilience, problem-solving abilities and new coping strategies.
- However, the pandemic will have affected mental well-being in various negative ways. As well as the short-term impact, there may be long-term consequences for mental health.

The SEND department has sought to

- Create a sense of safety in school by providing structure, routine and enjoyable activities.
- Provide opportunities for students to talk to each other and with trusted adults about their experiences of lockdown.
- Support friendships and provide time and space for pupils to reconnect with each other and with school life.
- Normalise uncertainty while also recognising and validating emotions.
- Provide written and visual information that sets out how things will be the same or different and help pupils to see what they can control.
- Talk about coronavirus and related worries, use this as an opportunity to correct inaccurate information.
- Create and maintain a calm and purposeful learning environment
- Support teachers and families with their own stresses and anxieties, which will in turn help pupils.
- Be flexible and supportive when applying behaviour policies.
- However, the pandemic continues to hinder pupils' learning and personal development.
- Schools have faced external barriers, such as delays accessing external services, particularly in relation to mental health.
- COVID-related anxiety among parents continues to be a challenge for the school

How will the curriculum be matched to my child's needs?

The school works hard to ensure the curriculum on offer provides breadth and depth and supports the learning needs of all students in Little Ilford School. Through this, the school provides challenge within all learning outcomes for all learners. The school has additionally written schemes of learning for all subject areas to ensure all subjects are delivered in a meaningful way and provide opportunities for progression. As mentioned previously, Quality First Teaching plays a major role in meeting the students' needs and the teachers and TAs attend regular training to ensure adaptation is always in place. There are also accreditation opportunities within Key Stage 3 (ASDAN) and Key Stage 4 (ASDAN Personal Progress and Personal and Social Development).

How are students with SEND helped to access activities outside of the classroom?

All students are included in activities and trips (with risk assessments, where needed) and in accordance with duties under the Equalities Act 2010. We talk to parents/carers and students when planning trips so that everyone is clear about what will happen and offer support when needed.

The students in the Resourced Provision access cycling lessons at the Velodrome in Stratford. There are weekly excursions to the park, which encourage engagement with the local community.

The Curriculum Leader of the Autistic Resourced Provision (ARP) has supervised and carried out a residential for KS4 students.

How do you work with parents/carers and students?

We will always contact parents/carers if we have a concern that their son/daughter may have a special educational need. We work closely with students with SEND and their parent/carers to agree outcomes, how we will all work towards these and then to review progress. We do this by review meetings, Parent Evening meetings, using home/school diary, (scheduled) phone call and email contact when appropriate. We also work with other services and organisations that are involved with a family, with the family's permission. We always discuss the involvement of specialist SEND services with parents/carers first.

We would like you to talk to the SENCO, Head of Learning Support or Head of Behaviour Support regularly so we know what they are doing at home and we can tell you about what we are doing in school. We hope this will make sure that we are doing similar things to support your child both at home and school and can share what is working in both places. You can book an appointment with the SEN Administrator through reception.

- The SENCO, Deputy SENCO, Curriculum Leader (Resourced Provision) and the Head of Learning Support are available to meet with you to discuss your child's progress or any concerns/worries you may have. Appointments can be booked via the SEND Administrator. You can also contact the SENCO via email: j.purkiss@littleilford.org

- All information from outside professionals will be discussed with parents/carers involved directly, or where this is not possible, in a report. The SENCO will also arrange to meet with you to discuss any new assessments suggested by outside agencies for your child.

- Home learning will be adjusted as needed to your child's individual needs.

Joining the school and moving on

We encourage all new prospective students and parents/carers to visit the school before starting. For students with SEND we:

- Work closely with primary (catchment) partner schools, so that students and parents/carers can visit the school to observe a usual school day and to meet relevant staff on a number of occasions
- Our current students tour the school with parents/carers and prospective students, to allow a student perspective of the school
- Hold meetings with the primary school SENCOs and other pastoral staff allowing time for parents/carers to reflect and talk through the specific needs of their child creating a 'SEND student profile' to support the child on arrival at school

We have a designated person (Head of Learning Support) in the SEN department who administers the transition for students with SEND for students in years 7, 9 and year 11. Some students cover transition as part of their annual reviews, whereas other students who have a significant priority of need will be supported and advised by external agencies. We begin to prepare students for transition into the next stage of their education or training in a number of ways:

- With their choices for GCSE and vocational courses - for example, in conversation with students and parents/carers; we give Year 9 students opportunities to think through their options choices that help students at the subsequent Year 9 Options Evening. In Year 9 we also:

Run transition meetings for all identified students. 'Transition Plan' meetings are initially created in Year 9. These plans are student and parent centred and so we aim to be as holistic in nature as possible and consider views and aspirations of both parents and the students.

We maintain open dialogue with parents/carers and students through conversations with teachers, when students are in Year 10 and Year 11.

In Year 11 we will:

- Hold a further, more specific transition meeting plan continuing from Year 9. The Year 11 plans will involve liaison with other external specialists who together with parents and student, develop bespoke transition plans. Representatives from the colleges/school (Post 16) are involved in these plans.
- With adviser support to ensure all students with SEND have guidance and support in appropriate provision post 16
- Career School lessons for all Year Groups
- Work experience (two weeks at the end of Year 10 for all Year 10 students; more extended placements for carefully selected students based on their needs in preparation for adult and working life)

If your child is moving schools:

- We will contact the school SENCO and ensure that s/he knows about any special arrangements or support that needs to be put in place for your child.
- We will make sure that all records about your child are passed on as soon as possible.

When moving years in school:

- Information about your child will be shared with their new teachers. If your child would be helped by a personalised plan for moving to another year, we will put this in place.

Alternative Provision

- The SEND department is seeking to work collaboratively and in a more proactive manner with external agencies and providers in order to create a more therapeutic environment for children and young people with social communication difficulties and social emotional and mental health needs

- The development of the SEN hub within the school will facilitate more effective and flexible ways of working to ensure that the young people leave school equipped with the life skills which they need

How accessible is the school to students with SEND?

- We ensure that the majority of equipment used is accessible to all children regardless of their needs.
- We provide support with homework and reading at lunchtime, before and after school.
- Key words and literacy resources are used across the school to support learning.
- If students have a physical disability, then adaptations will be made for these students such as timetabling lessons on the ground floor, use of lifts, use of the disabled toilets. The new school building is compliant with the Equality Act 2010
- The school provides accessibility to all curriculum areas by lifts for identified students.
- Students will be supported by allocated staff members.
- Students who have access needs are identified and lift keys issued to the relevant departments.
- Students MUST be escorted by a member of staff when using the lifts.
- The school provides exits and entrances for wheelchair accessibility apart from the staircase 3 entrance/exit, which has steps from street level up to the entrance/exit doors.
- The school provides five disabled access toilets on the ground floor and two on each floor above ground floor level making 11 disabled toilets in school.
- Accessibility to the ASD Provision is via a classroom and the access is wheelchair friendly.

How can I let the school know I am concerned about my child's progress in school?

If you have concerns about your child's progress, you should speak to the student's PAL (Pastoral Achievement Leader) initially.

- If your child is still not making progress you should speak to the PAL and/or suggest that the SENCO is notified.

- If you are still not happy that the concerns are being managed and that your child is still not making progress you should speak to the Headteacher
- If you are still not happy you can speak to the school SEND Governor.

How will the school let me know if they have any concerns about my child's learning in school?

- When a teacher or a parent has raised concerns about a student's progress, and targeted teaching has not met the student's needs; the teacher must raise this with the SENCO. The SENCO will then inform the parents and if necessary invite them in for a meeting in which strategies will be discussed.
- There are half-termly assessment reports and then subsequently meetings between the Pastoral Achievement Leader and members of the Leadership Team and the SENCO in the school to ensure all children are making good progress. These are known as Raising Attainment and Progress meetings. If a student is then identified as not making progress the school may set up a meeting to discuss this with you in more detail.

How are the teachers in school supported to work with children with SEN and what training do they have?

The SENCO's job is to support the teachers in planning for children with SEND.
The school runs a training programme for all staff to improve the teaching and learning of children including those with SEND. The school runs regular training sessions for support staff working with students with SEND.
Individual teachers and support staff attend training courses run by outside agencies that are relevant to the needs of specific children in their class.

What SENs and disability awareness and safeguarding training is available to all staff?

- Our staff training plan is regularly monitored by our Governing Body to ensure it is fit for purpose for our students and develops capacity of the school workforce.
- We consult our staff and take into account outcomes from appraisals.
- We ensure all staff have information to support the medical needs of our children and we ensure that key staff are trained
- The Head of Learning support is in charge of medical care plans and will set up relevant meetings
- All staff complete induction with a training programme to ensure competency to fulfil the job description and role.
- We acknowledge that part of staff training will come from listening to and working closely with parents/carers and listening to students and value their input to regular review meetings to keep our information sharing about learners up to date.
- Safeguarding: All staff receive annual training in child protection and know how to log a concern as detailed in Keeping Children Safe in Education 2019 and the Code of Conduct for staff and whistle blowing procedures.

How do we know if SEND provision is effective?

The progress of all students is tracked throughout the school through teachers' progress reviews, three times each year. Student progress is also monitored by the Pastoral teams, who analyse student progress data. In addition, we regularly review progress towards agreed outcomes assessing whether the support that has been in place has made a difference and what we need to do next. We evaluate this progress against age-related expectations.

When we run special intervention programmes for groups of students we assess how successful they have been and use that information to decide on how best to continue with support in the future, this is analysed by the SENCO. Information about how the Governing Body evaluates the success of the education that is provided for students with SEN is contained in the annual Governors' SEN Report.

Who can I contact for further information or to provide feedback?

If you would like to provide feedback to us about SEND provision, please contact the SENCO, Head of Learning Support or Head of Behaviour Support. We would like to know what your children are doing at home and we can tell you about what we are doing in school. We hope this will make sure that we are doing similar things to support your child both at home and school and can share what is working in both places. You can book an appointment with the SEND Administrator through reception.

- The SENCO, Deputy SENCO or Head of Learning Support are available to meet with you to discuss your child's progress or any concerns/worries you may have.
- All information from outside professionals will be discussed with parents/carers involved directly, or where this is not possible, in a report. The SENCO will also arrange to meet with you to discuss any new assessments suggested by outside agencies for your child.
- Home learning will be adjusted as needed to your child's individual needs
