The room was dark, the only light came from the moon through the wooden window. There was furniture all around. Suddenly, in the corner of her eye, she saw it. She carefully ran around the settee hoping to find that thing. The moon vanished behind a cloud and the room became darker. She couldn't see anything.

Setting the scene

Embedded clause makes the sentence more interesting

A detailed description to put a picture in the readers mind

She felt something touch her leg, she hesitated. She wondered if it was just a draft. She hoped it was a draft. She tried to get to the light switch by touch but she fell over too many times so she crawled over to the window and made her way to the light switch. She turned it on and the door was open. "Did the draft open it", she thought. She closed the door and ran back to bed, petrified.

Shows that it's too dark to see

Showing her thoughts

She is panicking to see the thing and she is desperate

She tried to comfort herself

A scary, dramatic ending

3. Write notes about what happens in the trailer. Write a series of questions about what you still want to know.

It was foggy when Coraline was going for a walk. She met Miss Sphinks on her walk and she told her about being a famous actress on a stage.

Then she met Miss Forceable, who shares the flat with Miss Sphinks, and asked if Coraline knew where she was. She told her yes, she's out with her dog.

She walked around the garden and her hair was wet now. (Consider a semi colon here)

Then she met a crazy old man. He said that the mice didn't like the mist and that they had a message for her.....don't go through the door! She said it didn't mean anything to her and he said that they sometimes get thing wrong, like her name. He went back indoors after picking up his milk.

Coraline went indoors and was bored. She went to her mum's study room and talked about going back to school and buying new clothes. She drew a picture but only drew a word mist.

She tried to open the old door in the living room but it was still locked.

Then she went to see her dad. He was typing and she asked him what she should do. He suggested tap dancing. He was too busy to play with her but said she should go and bother Miss Sphinks and Miss Forceable.

She knocked on the door and the dogs barked when she answered. She was made a cup of tea in the parlour which smelled of dogs and polish. There were black and white photos of her acting days. Her tea was in a pink cup and had a dry biscuit. Miss Blink's name is April. Mrs Forceable's first name is Miriam. They 'argued' about being old. Then April read Coraline's tea leaves and said that in her future she would be in danger.

Miriam agreed. She asked what sort of danger but the ladies said tea leaves couldn't tell her that much. She asked what she should do and they answered not to wear green in the dressing room or say a Scottish play.

Then from the jar in the fireplace, April took a stone from a collection of different things that were inside. It was a stone with a hole going right through. She said it might help.

She said bye and went home. She didn't feel frightened, only excited for the adventure.

WWW: This is really well summarised Blake- you show excellent understanding of the plot and characters- well done!

EBI: Try not to rely on the word 'then'- see above where I have highlighted it. Could you change these to other words or change the sentence to avoid overly using 'then' in your writing?

4. Read the extract below which describes the other mother. What clues does this give you?

It sounded like her mother. Coraline went into the kitchen, where the voice had come from. A woman stood in the kitchen with her back to Coraline. She looked a little like Coraline's mother. Only... Only her skin was white as paper. Only she was taller and thinner. Only her fingers were too long, and they never stopped moving, and her dark - red fingernails were curved and sharp. 'Coraline?' the woman said. 'Is that you?' And then she turned around. Her eyes were big black buttons. 'Lunchtime. Coraline,' said the woman 'Who are you?' asked Coraline. 'I'm your other mother,' said the woman. 'Go and tell your other father that lunch is ready.' She opened the door of the oven.

It could tell you that she's in a parallel universe because it doesn't look the same.

That the other mother knows that she has a different mother and father.

That they're not very nice because she has big black eyes and very long fingers that were creepy and fast.

Coraline doesn't know what's happening.

She might be a ghost because her skin is very white.
