Introduction

This survey reports on progression into education, employment and training of young people who left statutory education in 2023. It provides a snapshot of the activity of school leavers at the 1st November 2023. It is the result of follow up activity undertaken by Staffordshire County Council Careers and Participation, and reflects the outcome of Information, Advice and Guidance work delivered by the school and Staffordshire County Council.

The survey provides an early approximation of the Government's Key Stage 4 destination measures. As stated above this is snapshot on a single date; however the DfE's post 16 destination measures are based on sustained participation over a six month period.

Following the introduction of the Raising the Participation Age (RPA) in the 2011 Education Act, 2014 Statutory Education leavers are required to participate in learning to the end of the academic year in which they turn 17. This survey therefore includes both Participation and Activity Survey information.

The District Average figures include those students who attended special schools and those whose education was provided by institutions other than school, such as pupil referral units, specialist units and home educated. It does not include all students from independent schools; nor does it include students who were resident in Staffordshire but attended schools outside the Local Authority area.
