

Pre-School Newsletter

We will continue with the topic Winter. In class the children will be exploring different textures, shapes, manipulate various media to create artwork and achieve their planned effect. During activities the children are learning to articulate their own ideas and adapt their work if necessary. We will create ice hangings in class using natural recourses for us to display outdoors and inside the classroom. This will encourage conversations with the children as they observe the ice art through the day talking about the changes they observe.

Learning intentions linked to topic:

- Develop mathematical language.
- Create Ice hangings chat about what they observe.
- Talk through their ideas, help extend critical thinking through asking questions.

Finally, the parent evening will be held on 24th of February appointment sheets will be available from the 23rd of January sorry for the delay.

We have an inset day on Monday the 23rd of January

Have a lovely week.
