Newsletter No. 15

Dear Parents and Carers,

This term continues to progress well here in school. The children have returned ready to learn and we have all been getting on with that, having as much fun as possible along the way! There has been some very exciting developments in our computing provision as we now have more than 100 Chromebooks in school to help the children with their learning. Our older children have also been using Google Classroom to receive and hand in work, reducing the need for paper. The computers are a much-needed update to our equipment as they enhance all aspects of the curriculum. While they will never replace books and pencils, they are a useful tool to help both the children and the teachers.

Our children are now what we call 'digital natives'. That is to say that they cannot remember a time before the internet or smartphones. We know how useful these devices are to us all in our daily lives, and we also know that this kind of technology will always be with us. Our website has a section dedicated to staying safer online; you can access it here. To help you to strike the best balance between safety and exploration, here is some advice from an excellent website called ThinkUknow that is designed to help education professionals and parents:

Watching Videos: Children love to watch videos and YouTube is always a firm favourite! But sometimes children can be exposed to videos that are not meant for them. YouTube Kids is a safer way for children to explore their interests. You can find more information about this on YouTube: what parents need to know. Remember, primary-age children should be supervised at all times when online. You can find out more on the ThinkUknow website here.

Have fun, and stay safe!

On Wednesday, Class 5 had their first, full class, Forest School since 'Lockdown 3.0'. Unusually, it was a beautifully sunny day and the children went about their learning in a calm, happy and supportive way. They began by catching up with Mr Wedderkopp around the fire and watching the coloured flames created by a special fur cone that Henry had brought in to share. After that, the children played a few team games and prepared for the activities of the morning. Shelter building was a popular choice (team work, perseverance, cooperation, compromise, resilience) and tarps were strung up all over the school grounds. Signs were being painted, wood for bird tables was measured and sawn, sticks were carefully whittled ready for marshmallow roasting, holes were drilled in wooden medallions and the rope swing was played on. When asked, the children cleared away; supporting each other in teams ready to play a final wide game. All in all, the adults definitely agreed it was one of the best sessions we have had.

During PSHE lessons in Class 4 we have created an 'Awesome Acts for April Calendar'. It's been a difficult year and we thought that one thing that could help to pull everyone together was to create this to show that there are still lots of positives. We thought about how we may not be able to change our situation, but we can choose how we respond to it. We have 30 children in Class 4 and each child made a suggestion for each of the 30 days of April. We wanted to share it with everyone, so we hope that it might make your April awesome!
