

Montgomery students already say they enjoy reading. This year the school has taken part in a survey with the National Literacy Trust to understand how students compare to the national average in respect to their views on reading. Impressively 73% of pupils say they are good at reading and :

58% say they enjoy reading in their free time (43.4% nationally, 2023)

75% say they enjoy reading at school (44.6% nationally, 2023)

Let's talk reading is new to Montgomery Academy this year as students were asking if they could have more time to talk about books that they enjoy. In these lessons, we encourage pupils to share their love of reading while also developing their Oracy skills.
