British Values

19th – 25th April 2021

Rule of Law

The Union flag is the national flag of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

From this Summer, the Union flag must be flown every day on UK government buildings as a symbol of UK's national unity and pride.

19th-25th April

Should we be allowed to fly flags anywhere?

Question: Should we allowed to fly flags anywhere?

The Union Jack will be flown on UK Government buildings every day of the year under plans to celebrate the United Kingdom's heritage and pride. Ministers are set to issue new guidance this week to get the world-famous flag displayed all year round – not just on designated days. Under current guidance, the flag is only required to be flown on all UK Government buildings in England, Wales and Scotland on special days, such as the Queen's birthday. The move comes after BBC Breakfast presenters Charlie Stayt and Naga Munchetty were accused of making fun of Communities Secretary, Robert Jenrick, for displaying the Union Jack in his office. That sparked a backlash from the Corporation and a statement from director-general Tim Davie that the BBC is 'proud to be British'.

A few weeks ago, TV host, Naga Munchetty, apologised for liking tweets referencing a flag that appeared in an interview with a government minister. She and BBC Breakfast co-host Charlie Stayt drew attention to a flag and a picture of the Queen behind Housing Secretary Robert Jenrick. At the end of the interview, Stayt made a joke about the size of his Union flag. Munchetty said she had removed the likes, "I liked tweets today that were offensive in nature about the use of the British flag as a backdrop in a government interview this morning, I have since removed these likes." Munchetty tweeted. What are your thoughts about this? Do you think it was the correct thing for Naga Munchetty to apologise in this instance?

If you could design a flag for your school or community, what would it look like?
