

Māgha Pūjā/ Sangha Day

Māgha Pūjā is a holiday that's observed in many Buddhist countries such as Thailand, Cambodia, Myanmar, and Laos.

Click on the flags to find out more about these countries:

It is one of the most important festivals in Buddhism. This holiday is observed annually on the full moon day that falls during the third lunar month. It is also known by several other names including Fourfold Assembly Day and Sangha Day. This year Māgha Pūjā is on Monday 6th March.

Find out more about Buddhist Festivals:

Find out more about Buddhism & play some meditation games:

Buddhism For Kids

Find out more about Buddhism:

BRITANNICA KIDS