

Science

The children will be learning about:

Materials

Children will learn about everyday materials and their properties through hands-on investigation and exploration. They identify and name common materials such as wood, plastic, glass, metal, water and rock, and begin to describe their simple properties. Pupils compare and group materials based on what they observe and test which materials are suitable for different purposes.

History

The children will be learning about:

The Tudors

Children will explore life in Tudor times, comparing the past with today. They learn about Henry VIII and why he is remembered, discover what homes were like, and look at differences between rich and poor people. Pupils investigate Tudor clothes, food and schools, and find out how we know about the past through portraits and artefacts. Learning develops historical vocabulary, questioning skills, and an understanding of how life has changed over time.
