

Elf Class Update

Since returning to school from the half term holidays, Elf class has been incredibly busy with lots of new learning. In Math they have learned how to plot numbers on an empty number line, say what 'one more' and 'one less' is and how many jumps there are between different numbers. We are so proud of their achievements. During IPC, where we are learning about different modes of transport throughout time, the children wrote a letter about their first journey on a steam train. To make the paper look authentic, they dabbed it with a tea bag and left it to dry. The results were amazing. Some children wrote about their experiences in their books and some recorded them on Chirp. In the photograph you can see them proudly showing the work. They stood and presented their experiences to the class, every one of them so confident. In a sorting activity, they were able to place different modes of transport along a time line, from past to present. They really are becoming accomplished historians. We always enjoy a visit from Luna, all the children are so kind and gentle to her and she is warmly welcomed. Finally, we participated in Anti-bullying Day. The children wore odd socks and celebrated the importance of being different, they understood how to recognise when something unkind is happening several times on purpose (STOP) and the important steps to take to get help.
