

Things that happened in Gremlin Class this week...

We have had another busy week in Gremlin Class. This week, the children have worked really hard in their literacy lessons, writing lots of engaging and creative pieces centred around, 'The Tiger Who Came to Tea'. In maths, the children have been practising reading, writing and counting numbers up to 100! To finish our week, the children had their IPC Exit Point, where they visited Elf class for a mini flower show and participated in some still life drawing of different plants and flowers. To end the day, they sat down for a well-deserved cup of squash and afternoon tea in 'Gremlin Class Café'. The children ate their own cress sandwiches, using the cress they had grown during this half term.

The children should be so incredibly proud of all that they have achieved this term, and truly deserve a long restful break. We hope you and your families all have a wonderful Easter!
