

This week, we completed an investigation into air resistance. We designed, created and tested our own parachutes to find out which style of parachute worked best.