

Sprite Class

Year 6 have had the most excellent time learning about WW2, specifically all about the Blitz. They have even researched and investigated what materials could have been used as black out blinds for homes in Britain. The scientists (children) used boxes and a range of material -bin bags, cardboard, fabric and paint - to discover the most appropriate material to block out any light emitted from a home. Take a look at the pictures from the investigation:

