

Sprite Class

Sprite Class have been having an absolute whale of a time in class lately. Our learning is going from strength to strength in all of our subjects. We are really enjoying using The Hunger Games as a stimulus for our writing. We have just completed writing newspaper reports about the first day of the competition, which will be displayed in our corridor, so keep your eyes out for our exciting new display.

We really enjoy having Luna in our classroom, she loves to keep us company whilst we work, especially in maths.

This week, we had the wonderful opportunity to gain some writing tips from the incredible author Caroline Lawrence. This is what some of us thought about her visit.

“I learnt how to make a good story using 7 steps!” Ayub

“I found out more historical facts, like how the Romans scare demons away by using bells and their left hand.” Zerron

“I found out that Roman women wore snake jewelry to scare bad spirits and demons away.” Cassie

“I learnt that the hero in a story doesn’t have to always get their own way and that you don’t have to be an adult to write a story.”
