

Trustees at Priory

I became a parent trustee in 2011 when my daughter started at Priory.

Being from Tarleton and not having local knowledge of the school, I wanted to become involved so that I could support the school my daughter had chosen and enable me to know what was happening. I soon got infected by the enthusiasm and dedication of all the teaching staff. It is so rewarding to be part of a team that puts pupils first, ensuring they have the best facilities and education. Everyone's priority is to ensure that every single pupil has the opportunity to achieve their maximum potential.

Communication to parents is something I feel very strongly about and being part of the board of trustees enables me to put the parent's perspective across.

Being a member at Priory has its challenges, but has been one of the most satisfying and enjoyable things I have the pleasure to say I am involved with.

My background is in engineering and information technology, currently supporting NHS hospitals and clinics.
