

Governors at Priory

I have been associated with Priory for many years as a School Governor but am now proud to be the Chair of Academy Trust (providing oversight of the school governance). Two of my children enjoyed a successful secondary education at Priory which provided a great foundation for their subsequent study and careers.

My background is in engineering and technical training, and I have enjoyed careers with the Royal Air Force, BAE SYSTEMS, and latterly as a policy lead for technical education within the Department for Education. I have a particular interest in school, and college management and leadership. Speaking with pupils, staff and parents I am confident that Priory offers great educational and cultural experiences for our young people, and is an exceptionally well-managed school.

Being a Governor at Priory is tremendously rewarding – you genuinely feel that you are actively contributing to improving the life chances and choices of the next generation, and I would recommended the role to anyone who would like to help develop young people and the local community.
