

Thought Challenging

Sometimes called Cognitive Restructuring, this intervention will help you challenge the thoughts that may make you feel anxious or low.

We will explore your thoughts together ...

You'll take your thoughts to court, considering why they might or might not be true...

... And maybe try out experiments to test the thoughts

... Often by keeping a thought diary

Reframing them should help you feel better

