School Improvement

This year we have been working hard to develop our curriculum to ensure it meets the needs of all our pupils. As part of this work we have identified five important attitudes we want our pupils to develop during their time in school. The attitudes are: positive and hardworking, resilience, self-confidence, curiosity and tolerance and understanding. We believe that if our pupils leave school with these important attitudes it will help them to live fulfilling lives.

Developing curiosity is an important attitude necessary for all present and future learning.

Our curriculum is planned to help our pupils develop tolerance and understanding of others and the wider world.

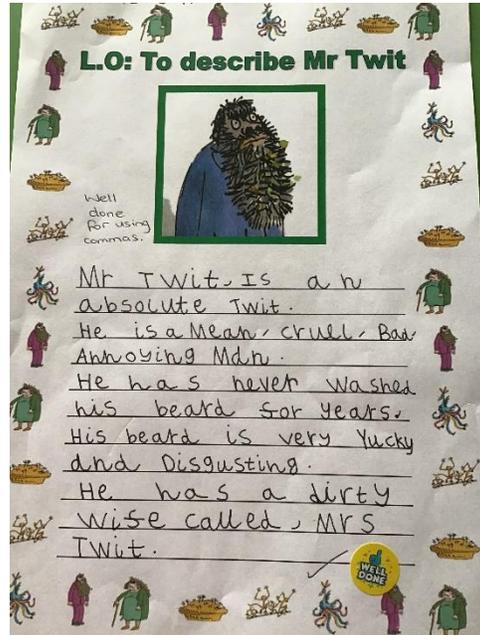

Planned curriculum opportunities to promote tolerance and understanding include: working with our inclusion partners from main stream schools; developing an understanding of different faiths and cultures and working together.

At Red Marsh School we are proud of all our pupils for their hard work and positive attitude to their learning.

Developing self-confidence is an important attitude we foster in all our pupils. Expressive arts including acting and dancing help to promote self-esteem.

During play, lessons and community work we are helping our pupils develop resilience. Developing resilience is necessary in enabling our pupils to live fulfilling lives.
