We are living in strange times, indeed, facing the type of challenges none of us have ever experienced before. This is daunting, even for the most resilient of people. During this difficult and confusing time, remember to support one another. It's really important that we talk about how we are feeling. It's not a sign of weakness to need to talk to someone - it's healthy to share your feelings.

Earlier this week, whilst driving to school, I saw daffodils in bloom and lambs in the fields. On the way home, I saw a beautiful sunset. I realised that, even though it feels very different at the moment, our world is still a beautiful place. We should take time to listen to the birds and look at the sky, notice the new shoots on trees and plants and enjoy the fact that there is still wonder in the world.

Our school family is so very important to each and every one of us and although we will be apart (for how long we do not know) we must remember that we are joined by love. You are all precious - take care of one another. Be safe.

Keeping children safe online

When your child is online, 'Content, Contact, Conduct' is the easiest way to think of the risks they may face. It's exactly the same whether your child is gaming, making videos to upload onto YouTube or using apps such as TikTok.

CONTENT: What can my child see? Am I happy with this? Is it age-appropriate?

CONTACT: Can my child contact others? Can other people contact my child?

Can I set privacy settings? Can I block or report inappropriate comments?

CONDUCT: What is the behaviour of my child online? Does my child act differently because they are behind a screen?

Home discussion question
Stan asked...
Can you find a song (different to Happy Birthday) that lasts for 20 seconds to sing whilst washing your hands?

Our school song!

Chorus

*Roseberry can do it, work as a team
Roseberry can do it, winning's our dream
Roseberry can do it, try as we might,
Roseberry can do it right!*

When we're playing football or entering competitions
We always put our skills to the test (oh yes!)
It doesn't really matter, 'cause almost automatically
Roseberry is the best!

When we set a target, we know that we can reach it
If we just put our skills to the test (oh yes!)
It doesn't really matter, 'cause almost automatically
Roseberry is the best!

We can use our manners, and show that we are friendly
If we just put our skills to the test (oh yes!)
It doesn't really matter, 'cause almost automatically
Roseberry is the best!
