It has been great to see children ending their topics for this half term with 'innovate' projects, applying their knowledge and skills to specific projects and tasks. The quality of work produced has been superb. Well done, everyone! Mrs Channing

It's nearly time for our Christmas parties!

Children don't need to bring anything with them but may wear party clothes, rather than uniform, on the day of their party.

Monday 14th December: Mr Moore and Mrs Charlton (upper hall)

Tuesday 15th December: Miss Harmar (upper hall)

Mrs Meadows and Mrs Murton (lower hall)

Thursday 17th December: Mrs Barker (in the classroom)

Miss Lindo and Mrs Kearns (lower hall)

Lunchtime Awards

Congratulations to the following children for receiving a lunchtime award this week:
Courtney Clemmit, Isla-Rose Bulman, Donika Kimbunga,
Esme Delaney, Harry Wright

Community links make a difference to many!

This week, children in Mrs Meadows' class and Mrs Murton's class have enjoyed receiving replies to the letters they recently wrote to the residents of Fry Court. This is a new link between the Roseberry family and Fry Court community that children and adults alike have welcomed and valued.

A Roman Invasion!

This week, Mr Moore's class and Mrs Charlton's class have celebrated their learning with a Roman invasion! Seeing a battle between Celts and Romans on the lower playground was very exciting - I thought I'd travelled back in time when I peeped out of the window! I soon realised, however, that I was seeing a feature film in the making.

Children and staff have worked very hard, indeed, to rehearse, perform and film their epic production, using technology to take us back to Roman times.

I have been lucky enough to see the film trailer and can't wait to see the finished product on Teams once Mr Moore and Mrs Charlton have completed the editing process.

Thank you to everyone for their hard work - children for learning lines and superb acting, adults in school for preparing scenes and filming, parents for providing costumes and Mr Moore and Mrs Charlton for spending night after night being fabulous film makers!

A community Christmas singalong

This is the first year in many decades when we haven't been able to join together as a village community to sing around the village Christmas tree. We're encouraging everyone across the village to join in with Christmas songs and Carols from their front gardens, drives or doorsteps at 6.15pm on Monday 21st December.

Carol sheets are available to download from christmasingreatayton.com and also from Thompsons Hardware shop.

A YouTube link will go live at 6.10pm on the 21st December which will feature the carol music to sing along to and special guests from our village singing!
