I have seen some super learning taking place as I have walked around school this week. It's been lovely to see children learning collaboratively, helping one another to get 'unstuck' from problems. I have been very impressed with the writing I have seen and delighted that Holly in Year Six has written her own ghost story book at home - not a story, a whole book! I've also received fabulous news that Annie in Year Three has qualified to represent North Yorkshire in a Horse Show - an amazing achievement! Good luck, Annie!

RAFT to the rescue!

Have you seen the state of our outdoor quad area next to the lower hall? It's awful! The old rubber play surface is in need of replacing and the walls and woodwork are in desperate need of a lick of paint.

For many months, I have dreamed that this area could be used by Year One children during lesson time and by other children across the school as a shared outdoor reading area. Imagine my delight when RAFT said they'd come to the rescue!

On Saturday 27th October, the RAFT Quad project will begin! A skip will be ordered and parents will be on site to dig out and remove the old rubber surfacing, install astro-turf (Thomas' mum is trying to arrange for this to be donated to school) and paint the walls. How amazing!

If you would like to lend a hand, please email RAFT@roseberryacademy.org

You don't need any experience or specialist skills, just a smile and a helping hand!

Scores on the doors

It's lovely to be able to reward children for making good choices regarding their behaviour. In addition to team points, the dinner time star jar, Pupil of the Week certificates and the Act of Kindness Award, we now have 'Scores on the Doors'! Throughout the week, I will be visiting each class to ask adults about children's behaviour both in and out of the classroom. Classes will be awarded scores and there will be a treat for the best behaved class!

On 16th October, we will be working with various health professionals to take part in the
