

Sleepover Club Highlights

For our topic this week, we have been learning about the natural world and Charles Darwin. Did you know that February 12th is known as International Darwin Day in celebration of his birthday?

We talked about evolution, and some pupils decorated paper faces to show how they think humans will evolve in the future.

