Video: The Keep it real online website is from the New Zealand government and has a range of topics including this video that went viral last week. This short video is tongue in cheek, designed to get parents to talk to their children about adult content. The video is aimed more towards the Secondary age range with other supporting materials for parents on this topic. WARNING: there is 'implied' nudity. Also if you click to the Home page there are some other resources aimed at Kiwi kids but also have a relevance with kids in the UK.
