

The Daring Dash

Read the following sentences.

Highlight the following punctuation:

- Dashes for parenthesis
- Dashes to separate two main clauses

It was a long wait – perhaps the longest of his life – but Kian knew it would be worth it.

As soon as he had arrived, he knew it was going to be an exciting adventure – the anticipation was electrical.

The queue was moving slowly – he knew it would – and his feet were aching.

Looking up, Kian could see the rope bridge – it looked very unstable.

Kian knew he would have to dash across the bridge – his fear of heights would not hold him back.

The final zipwire – it was the longest one in the UK – looked amazing.
