

“Let your light shine before others”

Matthew 5 v 16

CURRICULUM POLICY

The following policy is reflective of our deeply held Christian Vision and Values.

Vision

We are committed to creating a safe, happy and enriching environment where we all aspire to thrive, achieve and celebrate success together.

Our aim is to promote the dignity and well-being of every child and staff member and ensure they flourish in the course of their journey with us.

Values

Our core Christian values of Hope, Wisdom, Community and Joy underpin all that we strive to achieve to enable our ‘light to shine before others’ Matthew 5 v 16

1. Curriculum Intent

We nurture and develop kind, caring and considerate young people. Our curriculum purposefully imparts wisdom, nurtures talent and encourages pupils to become active, compassionate and lifelong learners. We enable everybody’s light to shine and empower them to be their best and nothing less.

We take a precise approach to designing our curriculum and each subject designs an experience for pupils that

- is vertically sequenced, reinforcing and building upon prior knowledge.
- it is logical, presented in an order that makes sense, getting gradually more challenging and helps pupils avoid forgetting what they have learnt and goes beyond the requirements of the national curriculum.
- is knowledge, experience and opportunity rich, building both substantive and disciplinary knowledge, as well as the individual as a whole.
- is aspirational whilst still differentiated. It stretches pupils, who regularly think hard around big issues
- develops the individual to prepare them to be literate, numerate and successful in the next phase of their education; encouraging curiosity, independence and responsibility.
- is relevant to them, as well as the evolving world and workplace
- responds to pupils’ concerns.
- will achieve high levels of retained knowledge

For individuals where the curriculum does not meet their needs, we offer high levels of individualisation and personalisation.

Our core Christian values underpin our curriculum. Our curriculum content, teaching approaches and

2. Curriculum Implementation:

At Selwood Academy we deliver a curriculum that is balanced and broad, which builds on pupils' knowledge and skills, regardless of their starting point. The curriculum covers the statutory requirements of the national curriculum and also provides other experiences which best meet the needs of our pupils as well as their interests. We widen horizons, raise aspirations and give pupils every opportunity to fulfil their potential and to enjoy learning so that they can become confident, responsible individuals who are able to live safe, healthy and fulfilling lives. Our pupils will leave Selwood equipped with the skills to be successful, independent and motivated learners in readiness for the next stage of their education.

The curriculum is delivered through individual subjects and progression grids for each subject ensure progression of substantive and disciplinary knowledge. Our curriculum is personalised ensuring that meets the needs of the pupils within the academy. Our curriculum is underpinned by our school's values and ability to 'Let your light shine before others'.

Curriculum design:

We have a two-week timetable for pupils:

3. Curriculum impact:

At Selwood we set high standards in teaching and learning and put in place systems that help promote the development of our core learner characteristics. From their individual starting points, each young person will make good progress in their academic, social, emotional, creative and physical development. We have a CPD program in place that supports all teachers and TAs enabling them to continue to reflect and develop themselves as practitioners.

Quality Assurance:

Strong departmental and faculty leadership monitors pupil progress and supports curriculum and staff development through a rigorous process of quality assurance. Using the Selwood Standards as the main point of reference, our staff work collaboratively to monitor the impact of teaching and to provide a platform for innovation in teaching.

Rewards and recognition:

Our core values form the basis through which learner characteristics are promoted (as above). We promote, recognise and reward pupils using our rewards system. In doing so, we enhance motivation and engagement in learning. Rewards and behaviour incidences are monitored regularly, so that we can understand barriers to learning and work proactively to remove them.

Inclusion for all:

Teachers set high expectations for all pupils. They will use appropriate assessment to set ambitious targets and plan challenging work for all groups, including:

- More able pupils
- Pupils with low prior attainment
- Pupils from disadvantaged backgrounds
- Pupils with SEND
- Pupils with English as an additional language (EAL)

Teachers will plan lessons so that pupils with SEND can study every national curriculum subject, wherever possible, and ensure that there are no barriers to every pupil achieving.

Teachers will also take account of the needs of pupils whose first language is not English. Lessons will be planned so that teaching opportunities help pupils to develop their English, and to support pupils to take part in all subjects.

Assessment approaches

Legislation and guidance

Since the removal of National Curriculum levels in 2014, schools have been free to develop their own approaches to assessment. This section refers to the recommendations in the Final Report of the Commission on Assessment without Levels. It also refers to statutory reporting requirements set out in the Education \(Pupil Information\) \(England\) Regulations 2005: schedule 1.

We see assessment as an integral part of teaching and learning, and it is inextricably linked to our curriculum. We use three broad overarching forms of assessment: day-to-day in-school formative assessment, in-school summative assessment and nationally standardised summative assessment.

In-school formative assessment

Effective in-school formative assessment enables:

- All staff to identify how pupils are performing on a continuing basis and to use this information to provide appropriate support or extension, evaluate teaching and plan future lessons
- Pupils to measure their knowledge and understanding against learning objectives, and identify areas in which they need to improve
- Parents to gain a broad picture of where their child's strengths and weaknesses lie, and what they need to do to improve

We recognise that an integral part of teaching well is high quality formative assessment. We expect all staff to be carrying out a variety of formative assessment techniques frequently in the course of their teaching. Marking books and giving oral feedback are non-negotiable as would be using questioning to establish success of a teaching episode. Self and peer-assessment should also feature often in lessons. A whole variety of other techniques are available to all staff.

In-school summative assessment

Effective in-school summative assessment enables:

- School leaders to monitor the performance of pupil cohorts, identify where interventions may be required, and work with all staff to ensure pupils are supported to achieve sufficient progress and attainment
- All staff to evaluate learning at the end of a unit or period and the impact of their own teaching
- Pupils to understand how well they have learned and understood a topic or course of work taught over a period of time. It should be used to provide feedback on how they can improve
- Parents to stay informed about the achievement, progress and wider outcomes of their child across a period

Individual subjects may use a variety of end-of-topic or end of unit tests throughout the year in order to accurately map skills acquisition and retention.

Tests are intended to;

- Provide information about how much pupils are retaining in their long-term memory
- Give us more information where the most successful teaching has been
- Require the pupils to revise the work they have covered, and get better at the process of revising
- Provide much needed practice for the end of Key stage experience, and as such reduce anxiety
- Improve the amount pupils learn by testing them (the testing effect).

| M = Mastered | Based on current rate of progress, will secure above expected standard |
| S = Secure | Based on current rate of progress, will secure expected standard. |
| D = Developing | Based on current rate of progress, will not achieve exp. but with the right support, has the potential to do reach expected standard. |
| E = Emerging | Based on current rate of progress, will not achieve expected standard. |

In some circumstances pupils may be unable to access the curriculum for their year group. If this is the case the number that starts the teacher assessed grade will reflect the year group the pupil is working in.

Marking and Feedback

To support teacher wellbeing our marking and feedback policy supports recommendations of reducing teacher workload. At Selwood marking and feedback will take place in five different forms: live marking (verbal and written feedback in lessons), peer feedback, whole class feedback, self-marking and high-quality written feedback provided by all staff once every 10 hours of learning or every 6 weeks whichever is sooner.

Feedback could be provided using a variety of strategies such as: tool kits and success criteria, 'how am I doing?' tasks, DIRT task sheets, whole class feedback, coded feedback (such as numbers or symbols) and written feedback.

All feedback will move pupils' learning forward; give positive and constructive feedback and provide all staff with information to aid future planning and assessment.

All pupil' work as a response to feedback will be completed in BLUE pen.

Expectations of staff

- Marking to be carried out in a green pen in a clear, legible hand or mistakes highlighted in green highlighter.
- As a minimum, constructive written feedback is provided for every 10 hours of learning time, or every 6 weeks whichever is sooner. *
- Provide regular modelling for pupils to exemplify high standard of work and how to improve their work.
- To use the common codes for errors in written work.
- Provide dedicated time in lessons for pupils to respond to feedback.

Expectations of pupils

- Written work to be carried out in a black pen in legible, joined handwriting.
- Maths work to be carried out in pencil in year 5 and 6.
- Drawing to be carried out in pencil.
- Work to be carried out to the pupil's highest standard.
- Self-assessment and editing to be carried out in blue pen.
- Responses should be given to teacher feedback.

- Book scrutiny
- Learning walks and drop ins
- Moderation

Collecting and using data

Data is used in line with PiXL DDT approach

In addition to the analyses available, we generate parental reports and summaries for subject leaders three times per year.

Performance versus “potential”

One of the most important roles of the data and assessment aspect of our work is to highlight which pupils are performing in line with our expectations – and which aren't. A key aspect of our analysis is to chart a cohort's current performance versus potential in the form of a scatter graph. The resulting line of best fit and residuals (distance to the line) can indicate clearly where students are performing well or not.

The measures of current performance can come from PLCs or from more formal summative assessments. Traditionally we have used the scores from the previous key stage (or the related estimates of attainment from FFT) as the basis for setting expectations of pupils in all subjects. Whilst there is a statistical correlation between success in these tests and say art this correlation is not strong enough to be a reliable indicator of a likely grade. For subjects that lie outside the traditional academic core of English and maths we ask that subjects produce simple baseline assessments that can highlight pupils' current attainment levels. These baseline figures are more useful for identifying pupils who may be underperforming against their potential in that subject. This analysis provides pupil-to-pupil comparison and so cannot provide verification for the overall achievement of a cohort, that will have to come from elsewhere, but assuming that overall progress is within normal limits for a subject the pupil level information is useful as it highlights a hitherto ignored group (the pupils with high prior attainment but who are underperforming). Phase leads, subject leads and class staff use this as the main focus of their intervention work throughout the year.

Reporting to parents

The standard report, reports in attitudes to learning, as well as recent exam performance and an indicator of what this means both in term of progress based on potential and attainment in Teacher Assessed Grades (knowledge and skills). The report also shows the pupil's overall attendance figure as well as prior attainment information held. In the summer term a pastoral comment is also written by the pupil's tutor.

Legislation and guidance

This policy reflects the requirements for academies to provide a broad and balanced curriculum as per the Academies Act 2010, and the national curriculum programmes of study which the school has chosen to follow. It also reflects requirements for inclusion and equality as set out in the Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice 2014 and Equality Act 2010, and refers to curriculum-related expectations of governing boards set out in the Department for Education's Governance Handbook. It complies with our funding agreement and articles of association.

Roles and Responsibilities

The Trust Board

The trust board will monitor the effectiveness of this policy and hold the Headteacher to account for its implementation.

The trust board will also ensure that:

- A robust framework is in place for setting curriculum priorities and aspirational targets.
- The school is complying with its funding agreement and teaching a "broad and balanced curriculum" which includes English, Maths, and Science, and enough teaching time is provided for pupils to cover the requirements of the funding agreement.
- Curriculum development planning will inform financial provision.
- Proper provision is made for pupils with different abilities and needs, including children with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND).
- The school implements the relevant statutory assessment arrangements
- It participates actively in decision-making about the breadth and balance of the curriculum

Headteacher

The Headteacher is responsible for ensuring that this policy is adhered to, and that:

- All required elements of the curriculum, and those subjects which the school chooses to offer, have aims and objectives which reflect the aims of the school and indicate how the needs of individual pupils will be met
- The amount of time provided for teaching the required elements of the curriculum is adequate and is reviewed by the trustee board
- Requests are managed to withdraw children from curriculum subjects, where appropriate
- The school's procedures for assessment meet all legal requirements
- The trust board is fully involved in decision-making processes that relate to the breadth and balance of the curriculum
- The trust board is advised on whole-school targets in order to make informed decisions
- Proper provision is in place for pupils with different abilities and needs, including children with SEND

The Deputy Headteacher

The Deputy Headteacher in charge of Teaching and Learning will oversee all aspects of curriculum management within the school and liaise with, support and direct Curriculum Team leaders as appropriate. This includes oversight of:

- Curriculum delivery and development
- The monitoring of teaching and learning methodology and practice
- Pupil progress and attainment
- Ensuring continuing professional development (CPD) supports all staff in the delivery of the curriculum
- Assessment, marking and feedback to support learning
- Reporting to parents and carers

Faculty and Curriculum Team Leaders

Will be responsible for the effective delivery and monitoring of the timetabled curriculum in their subject area and all staff will collectively assist in the delivery of the whole-school curriculum. The Deputy Headteacher and all Faculty and Curriculum Team Leaders will have responsibility for keeping themselves and others informed of curriculum developments and implementing curriculum change.
