

A SOCIAL STORY

WHAT WILL SCHOOL BE LIKE NOW?

When you do go back to school, things will be a bit different to what you are used to.

You might not want things to be different.

You might want things to stay the same.

It is OKAY to feel like this.

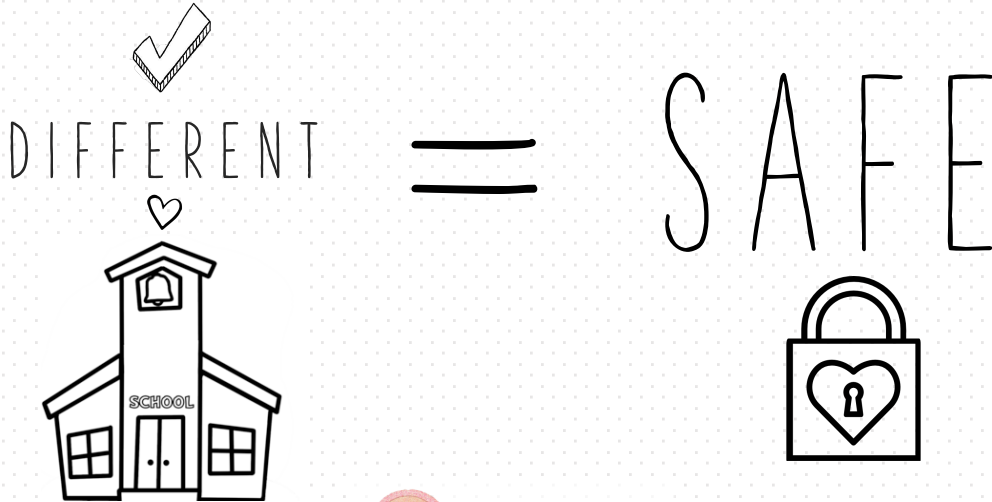

If you notice things are different, it is actually GOOD.

It means your school family want to keep you safe.

Here are some of the things you might see or notice...

The classrooms might look different.

You might be with
the same teachers
and children most of the time.

You might stay in
one area of school
most of the time.

You might not be with ALL the people you are normally with but you will still be with some of your friends and other children.

You might even get to know some people better or make new friends.

You will have to wash your hands LOTS.

You might have to use a different toilet (BUT you will still be able to go whenever you need to).

You won't be able to get TOO CLOSE
to other people.

There might be different playtime and
lunchtime RULES.

You might not be able to PLAY with some of the things you normally PLAY with.

You might not be able to USE some of the things you normally USE.

You might hear people talking about BUBBLES.

These are NOT real bubbles!

People are saying bubbles instead of classes or groups.

It helps your school family to know where people will be
and keep everyone in a safe place.

This probably all sounds very STRANGE.

You might not really understand it.

This might make you feel a bit sad, worried or cross.

Sometimes, we just have to TRUST our adults
at home and our adults at school and
do what they say.

BUT...

It is still good
to talk about what you are thinking.

It is still
good to ask questions.

It is still good
to talk about how you are feeling.

Things will NOT always be like this and one day things will go back to how they used to be at school.

@therainbowclassroom

Until that day...

DON'T FORGET that if you spot things that are different it means you are being LOOKED AFTER

and your school family are keeping you SAFE.
