Ava

Ava has demonstrated a highly positive and resilient approach to her learning. She consistently shows a strong determination to challenge herself and persevere, particularly during our work on long division. Ava took the time to carefully think through each step, ensuring the learning made sense rather than giving up when it felt difficult. Her confidence, persistence, and willingness to encourage others reflect an excellent attitude to learning and a growing maturity, especially in her mathematical thinking.

Penny

Penny has shown exceptional kindness, awareness, and initiative in the classroom. She is highly perceptive and consistently looks for ways to be supportive, often anticipating what others may need and offering help without being asked. Penny's thoughtful and proactive approach, combined with her genuine care for others, makes her a wonderful role model and a valued member of our class community.
