

As the final half term before Christmas begins, we are so pleased to be able to share a new selection of books which cover a wide range of interests and reading accessibility. This is obviously not an exhaustive list – there are so many books they could explore. Whatever they are curious about, or take interest in, consider looking at books around the topic, or encouraging them to research into the area further through non-fiction texts such as online articles.

As part of PiXL's Let's Talk programme, we'll be exploring the topics of remembrance and also the importance of community this half term with our schools. If this is something you'd like to explore through reading with your child, there are a few book recommendations linked to these.

Please note that unless otherwise stated, the texts are suitable from Year 7 and up, but please do research the books before selecting them to ensure that they are appropriate for your child, as these are just a publisher's guide.

Whether you're looking for books or audiobooks to get out of the library now, or for Christmas presents, we hope you and your child enjoy reading this half term and that you have a wonderful end to this year.

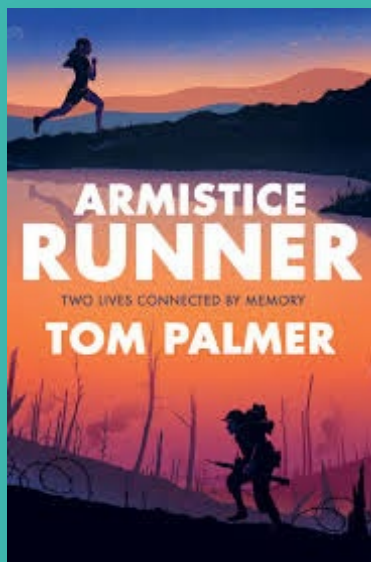

A Poem for Every Winter Day

ED. ALLIE ESIRI

Within the pages of Allie Esiri's gorgeous collection, A Poem for Every Winter Day, you will find verse that will transport you to sparkling winter scenes, taking you from Christmas, to New Year's Eve and the joys of Valentine's Day.

SHORTER-LENGTH READS

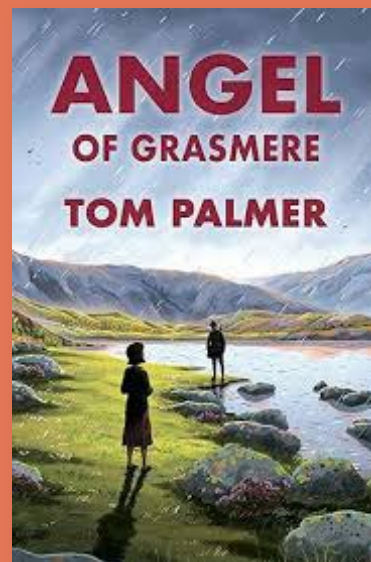

The books below are all shorter-length texts, which could be engaging for anyone, but they are published in a dyslexia-friendly font to help make them accessible to all. If your child doesn't have dyslexia, they can still read these wonderful books!

Armistice Runner

TOM PALMER

Lily has lots of worries. She's struggling to compete in her fell-running races and, worse, she's losing her gran to Alzheimer's. But then she discovers her great-great-grandfather's diaries from the First World War. Could his incredible story of bravery help her reconnect with her gran and even give her the inspiration she needs to push through to win?

Angel of Grasmere

TOM PALMER

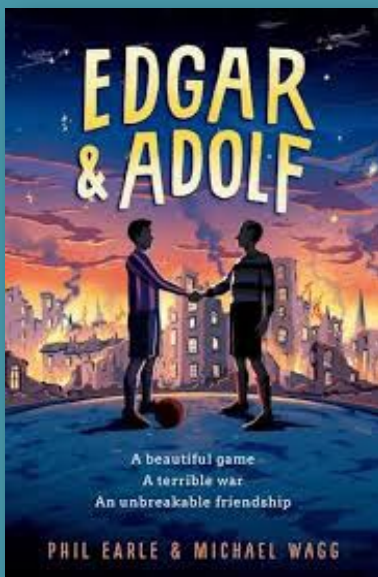

July 1940 – As Tarn struggles to come to terms with the loss of her beloved brother in the chaos of the British retreat at Dunkirk, she and her friends scour the hills around their Lake District home, watching for any signs of the long-dreaded Nazi invasion. But, as the war drags on, with little good news from the front, the locals become aware of someone carrying out anonymous acts of kindness. With no one claiming credit, they come to think of this unidentified stranger as a kind of guardian angel, but when his identity is finally revealed, can Tarn come to terms with the truth?

The Ghost Garden

EMMA CARROLL

Summer 1914. When Fran unearths a bone in the garden of Longbarrow House on the same afternoon that Leo breaks his leg, it must surely be a coincidence. But Fran can't shake the uneasy feeling that the events are somehow connected, and there is a shift in the atmosphere that leaves her troubled and anxious. Roped into keeping Leo company, Fran is forced to listen to his foolish theories about the looming threat of war in Europe.

Edgar and Adolf

PHIL EARLE AND MICHAEL WAGG

When he inherits a special football badge, German teenager Adi sets off on a mission to fulfil his grandfather's dying wish and return the badge to its rightful owner: former England footballer, Edgar Kail. After tracking him down, Adi gets the chance to learn more about the achievements of his grandfather and the story unfolds of a special friendship that spanned twenty years and survived the horror of the Second World War.

LONGER-LENGTH READS

The Snow Angel

LAUREN ST. JOHN

Growing up in vibrant, crowded Nairobi, Makena has only one dream: to climb Mount Kenya like her hero, her mountain guide father. But when her beautiful world is shattered, she finds that in the city's darkest places, there are a thousand ways to fall, each more deadly than any crevasse.

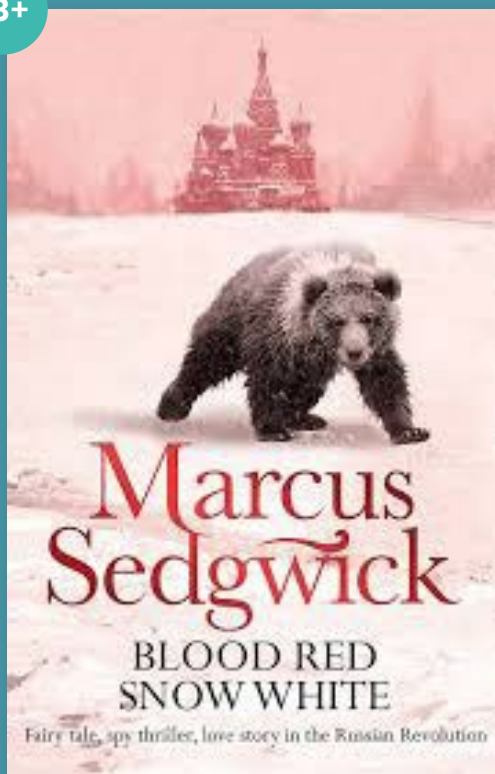

Blood Red, Snow White

MARCUS SEDGWICK

Set in the rich and atmospheric landscape of Russia during the revolution that sent shockwaves around the world, this is the partly true story of Arthur Ransome – a writer accused of being a spy. Fictionalising history and blending it with one man's real life, Marcus Sedgwick expertly crafts this innovative and stimulating novel.
