Business and Industry Policy-
Wider Development

At St. Aidan's, linking our classes with local businesses and industries offers a wealth of benefits for our pupils, our school and our community. The key advantages we find are:

Benefits for pupils: :

- Real-World Context: Connecting learning to local businesses makes education more relevant and engaging. Pupils can see how the things we teach in the classroom apply in a real world setting, increasing their motivation and understanding of jobs in the wider world. This link prepares pupils for life and work by providing them with real-world experiences.
- Developing Key Skills: Interactions with businesses help pupils develop their oracy skills and skills such as teamwork, problem-solving, and critical thinking. Such skills are vital for success in further education and employment.
- Career Awareness: Early exposure to different industries and career paths broadens pupils' horizons and helps them make informed choices about their future.
- Enhanced Learning Experiences: Businesses can offer unique learning opportunities like workplace visits, mentoring programs, and hands-on projects, enriching the curriculum and making learning more interactive. We have also invited companies to be our 'judges' or audience when showcasing something we have learnt in school.

Benefits for school:

- Stronger Community Links: Partnerships with businesses and industries, including local businesses, strengthen school-community relationships, fostering a sense of collaboration and shared responsibility for pupil success. We think it is important for our school to be active within our Mill Hill community
- Curriculum Enrichment: Businesses can provide valuable resources and expertise to enhance the curriculum, particularly in areas such as STEM, finances, and entrepreneurship. This also links with our rich and relevant curriculum.
- Increased Teacher Engagement: Collaborating with businesses inspires teachers and provides them with new ideas and approaches to teaching.

Benefits for Businesses/ industries linked to our school:

- Future Workforce Development: Investing in primary education helps businesses nurture a skilled and engaged future workforce.
- Positive Community Impact: Supporting local schools enhances a business's reputation and demonstrates its commitment to the community.
- Access to Talent: Early engagement with pupils can help businesses identify and attract potential future employees.

Wider Development:

At St. Aidan's we work hard to ensure our children excel in:

- Personal Development: Building character, resilience, and self-confidence.
- Behaviour and Attitudes: Developing positive attitudes towards learning and respect for others.
- Social and Cultural Development: Promoting understanding of different cultures and communities.
- Economic and Career Development: Preparing pupils for the world of work and future careers.

Linking with businesses and industries directly contributes to these aspects of wider development by providing pupils with valuable experiences, skills, and knowledge that extend beyond the traditional academic curriculum.

Expectations of this unique partnership can be found in appendix one.

By fostering partnerships between primary schools and local businesses, we can create a more engaging, relevant, and enriching educational experience for pupils, preparing them for success in all aspects of their lives.
