Archbishop pays tribute to parishioners as he opens new school

THE NEW £117,000 St. Barnabas School, opened on Monday by His Grace, the Archbishop of York, The Most Reverend F. D. Coggan DD, will replace a building which has served over four generations.

That fact was referred to by Councillor Robin Kenyon, BA, who chaired the official ceremony. "The new building will supersede one which has served the area for over 120 years," he said.

The original St. Barnabas school, known as the Old Calvert school, was opened at the north side of Watery Lane, in 1832.

During the course of time a larger building was built on the opposite side of the road in 1871. Councillor the Hon. Charles Clegg said the new Calvert school was opened in 1909. The school finally took the title of St. Barnabas School.

Councillor Kenyon went on to say that during the past seven years, more had been done for the school than in any other school.

He said that during the previous years he had watched it change from a small school to a large one.

That recognition of skill and ability, he said, made the school a place where the future of the area was being built.

parishioners, who, he said, had been real friends in raising funds towards the opening of the new primary school.

There has been a co-operative job, and a wonderful result," he said. "The purpose of the school is not simply to teach facts, but to help the child to learn to live."

A group of 200 people, including the Archbishop, the Mayor, Councillors, and the school staff, were present at the opening ceremony.

Dr Coggan dedicates and opens Darwen school

THE new St. Barnabas Church of England School, Darwen, was dedicated and opened by the Archbishop of York, Dr Donald Coggan, in the crowded assembly hall.

The service of dedication was conducted by the vicar, the Rev. J. A. Sutton, assisted by the headmaster, Mr. R. J. Dickinson.

The opening was presided over by Councillor Robin Kenyon, a former St. Barnabas school manager, representing Darwen Town Council.

Also present were the Mayor and Mayors, Councillors and Mrs. Philip Clegg, the Town Clerk, Mr. J. C. Fielding, members of the Education Committee, and members of the Diocesan Education Committee.

Back to school prayer

Dear God,

Please help me to use my eyes to see new friends,
Open my ears and listen to my teachers and others,
Open my mind to learn new skills.

Let my heart love everyone around me,
Help me to grow and learn each day
I want to be the best that I can be this school year, to live life in all its fullness and shine from the inside out.

Amen

Shine
