Statement of Intent for PSHE

Psalm 139:14 "I will give thanks to You, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made."

1 Corinthians 13:4-5: "Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It does not dishonour others, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs."

"Love and compassion are necessities, not luxuries. Without them, humanity cannot survive." Dalai Lama

"Some values must be universal, like human rights and the equal worth of every human being." Bjorn Ulvaeus (ABBA)

A high-quality PSHE education will help pupils gain social skills, fitting them for life in a democratic, multicultural, pluralistic modern Britain. It will help ensure pupils understand the values which are an important part of life in Great Britain. Teaching equips pupils to ask perceptive questions, think critically, weigh evidence, sift arguments, and develop perspective and judgement. They will learn about themselves, their own characters, their individual skills and talents and to appreciate the value of every member of their community and the contribution they can make. They will learn about managing risks and how to respond to keep themselves and others safe. They will learn about their physical, mental and emotional development and wellbeing. They will learn about how they will change as they grow and about the different stages of their development. PSHE helps pupils to understand the complexity of people's lives, how points of view can change, how issues can be 'grey' and not simply black and white, the process of change, the diversity of societies and relationships between different groups, as well as their own identity and the challenges of modern times.
