

Music Impact Statement.

To measure the impact of music education across the school, we will use a variety of different methods. The main way to show the progression of children will be to create a music portfolio. This will be a selection of performances by the children of the song they have been learning over the term, as well as the songs they have been writing. The portfolio will consist of performance videos and photos and files of the songs they have written. The music lead will also complete drop in visits to see how music is being taught throughout the school and complete pupil voice questionnaires to monitor the children's understanding of music.
